1. The first part of the book is devoted to a general survey of the history of the English language from its earliest beginnings to the present day. It deals with the various dialects and the process of standardization, and also with the influence of foreign languages on the English vocabulary.

2. The second part of the book is devoted to a detailed study of the English grammar. It deals with the various parts of speech, the structure of the sentence, and the various tenses and moods of the verb.

3. The third part of the book is devoted to a study of the English literature. It deals with the various periods of English literature, from the Middle Ages to the present day, and with the various types of literature, from the epic to the novel.

4. The fourth part of the book is devoted to a study of the English language in the world. It deals with the various varieties of English, from the American to the Indian, and with the various problems of English as a world language.

1. The first part of the book is devoted to a general survey of the history of the Indian people. It begins with a description of the physical features of the country, and then proceeds to a history of the various races and tribes which have inhabited it. The author then discusses the political and social conditions of the country, and finally, the religious and philosophical systems which have developed there.

2. The second part of the book is devoted to a detailed history of the Indian people. It begins with a description of the physical features of the country, and then proceeds to a history of the various races and tribes which have inhabited it. The author then discusses the political and social conditions of the country, and finally, the religious and philosophical systems which have developed there.

3. The third part of the book is devoted to a detailed history of the Indian people. It begins with a description of the physical features of the country, and then proceeds to a history of the various races and tribes which have inhabited it. The author then discusses the political and social conditions of the country, and finally, the religious and philosophical systems which have developed there.

4. The fourth part of the book is devoted to a detailed history of the Indian people. It begins with a description of the physical features of the country, and then proceeds to a history of the various races and tribes which have inhabited it. The author then discusses the political and social conditions of the country, and finally, the religious and philosophical systems which have developed there.

5. The fifth part of the book is devoted to a detailed history of the Indian people.
